PERSONNEL

We started a new student program in July. Two students that are going into a Fire Service or Medical program in the fall have attended training nights with us to gain skills that will help them in their upcoming school year. One is attending the two-year Fire Program at Lambton College, the other Primary Care Paramedic at Northern College. If they decide to return with us next summer, we will utilize them as firefighters with the hope they return to us when school is completed in two years.

TRAINING

On July 27 and 28 our department hosted an Emergency First Responder Medical course. Members from Searchmont, Goulais River and Batchewana Fire attended as well. We will be hosting the remainder of the course in September which will give us 6 more firefighters trained upon completion. The Ontario Fire College in Gravenhurst began taking applications for the 2020-2021 season and we have put forward the names of three firefighters and one captain for training there next year. Hopefully we will know soon if they have been accepted.

EQUIPMENT

The equipment compartments have been installed on the tanker. These boxes were manufactured in previous years however were not put on the truck. We also purchased 200 feet of 4" high volume hose as we begin to replace the 1100 feet we had to take out of service.

FIRE PREVENTION

On Saturday August 17 we will be conducting Open Air Burning inspections on some residences that have permits. At the same time, we will be offering information on Smoke and CO detectors and the associated legislation.

As requested in the last council meeting please find attached the Fire Department YTD Budget and Expenses. Two items that are not on the list are new turnout gear (approx. $16,650.00) and the installation of the equipment boxes on the tanker (approx. $4118.85). We hope to have delivery of the new turnout gear in the next week.

Aug 13, 2019

Date: Aug 8, 2019	Date Presented: Aug 13, 2019
Prepared By: Brian Evans	Department: Transportation
Subject: Road Report

Roads crew have caught on patching for now.

Prince Lake was graded on Tuesday July 30th.

I have talked to Ferrovia and the engineers that are working on the project on Second Line about the sink hole that appeared on the shoulder just east on the driveway at 2596 Second Line.

The engineers have assured that it will not sink again, but the culvert was not changed.

Also the 500 dollar limit that is set for Twp employees requiring 3 quotes, I ask to change it to 2500. As running around or calling for estimates wastes time and money and also ticks people off.

Sound the alarm: It's time to fight for Ontario's volunteer firefighters

Lauren Sproule is a freelance multimedia journalist living and working in London.

The North Dumfries Volunteer Fire Department is small, one of the smallest in the province, and it sits on a hill in the village of Ayr, Ont. It's generally quiet, except for the occasional rumbling laughter that comes from the break room, where a group of retired firefighters hunch around a rectangular wooden table playing cards. Their chuckles echo throughout the empty apparatus floor until the calm is swallowed up by the loud crackle of static and a woman's flat voice announcing, "Alarm for Ayr, alarm for Ayr."

Suddenly, the serene fire hall is overcome with activity as men both young and old begin filing into the station. They hurriedly don their gear and half-run, half-jog to the trucks as the roar of engines mingles with the whir of the garage door opening. The sirens yelp to life as the trucks' great tires heave forward, rolling over the asphalt and down the hill toward the centre of town.

And just like that, they're gone. This symphony of emergency is finished almost as quickly as it began.

They may have to perform this concerto several times a day to protect their community, which is a reality for most volunteer firefighters in Ontario, who are paid little and remain on call 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, all the while maintaining full-time jobs, unlike their career-firefighter counterparts. These reasons and several others put volunteer firefighters at a greater risk of developing mental-health disorders such as post-traumatic stress disorder or depression, as proven by a handful of studies out of British Columbia and the United States.

Of the 449 fire departments in Ontario, 368 are comprised of mostly or entirely volunteer firefighters. The vast majority of volunteer fire departments in the province do not receive the same level of training opportunities as full-time fire departments. This is also true on a national scale, where 83 per cent of Canada's firefighters are volunteers.

While research into the mental health of first responders is in its infancy in Canada, one report out of British Columbia flagged several concerns when it comes to volunteer firefighters.

Melanie O'Neill, one of the authors of the report, says what is most concerning is this cumulative effect of the traumatic and stressful events volunteer firefighters experience and the impact it has on their psyches. Mental-health professionals have a growing awareness of the emotional and mental weight these firefighters can bear before the symptoms begin to manifest, whether it's in addiction, depression or, sometimes, suicide. According to the Tema Conter Memorial Trust, statistics show that the number of firefighter suicides has risen in recent years, with more than 33 documented suicides since 2014.

While trauma is certainly not unique to volunteer firefighters, the additional stressors placed on them are. Volunteer fire departments typically operate out of remote communities, so they have less access to resources, training and support. Because not all volunteers are required to respond to a call, there may be fewer firefighters at the scene to assist. As the majority of these departments cater to farming communities in the countryside, it could take longer for paramedics or police to arrive at a call, leaving these men and women to perform varying degrees of first aid. Medical emergencies make up the majority of calls received by volunteer departments, as a report from the Office of the Ontario Fire Marshal indicates.

One of the primary challenges plaguing volunteer fire departments is that they don't have the same financial support as full-time departments. Being municipally funded, fire departments in big cities have big budgets and those in small, spread-out communities, which most volunteer departments are, have small budgets.

This lack of capital often leaves volunteer firefighters to their own devices. Some have held bake sales and community fundraisers to purchase better equipment, and a few others have attended additional training sessions on their own time, paid for out of their own pocket.

In 2016, the provincial government raised the alarm among the general public when it implemented the Supporting Ontario's First Responders Act. This law, the first of its kind, stated that first responders are entitled to benefits if they are diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder. It also required all fire departments to develop a PTSD-prevention plan.

The issue here is that PTSD is one specific illness in a sea of stress injuries. Beyond this general misunderstanding, volunteer departments were given no guiding instructions by the Ontario Fire Marshal or the Ministry of Labour as to what the plan needed to entail.

Legislation was passed down from the Fire Marshal in early 2018 requiring additional certification and training on the part of all firefighters, both career and volunteer. And while the idea of this mandate was supported by some volunteer departments, the execution and expected timeline was generally a source of contention among volunteer firefighters. This regulation would require all of the province's firefighters to be certified at a certain level, which they would need to attend and pay for on their own time and dollar. This requirement, however, was set aside by the Ontario Fire Marshal in October of last year.

An invitation has since gone out to all the fire departments in the province to join an advisory committee organized by the Fire Marshal, which is a welcome step; the fire chief of the North Dumfries Volunteer Fire Department, Robert Shantz, says it's an opportunity for volunteer departments to have the province's ear. Whether this committee will broach working conditions for volunteers remains to be seen.

The Ayr department is made up of plumbers, municipal workers and small-business owners, as well as a smattering of career firefighters and paramedics. North Dumfries, like so many of Ontario's and Canada's volunteer fire departments, is comprised of people who are required to pull mangled bodies from cages of twisted car metal or hold the hands of strangers as they watch the light leave their eyes. Then they pack up, go home and head into work the next morning. Some of them can still hear screaming or smell gasoline – phantom echoes of tragedies past that they carry with them every time they don their gear. So it isn't so much a question of whether our volunteer firefighters need support, but how much.

Ontario Investing in New Program to Support Seniors' Mental Health

July 16, 2019

TORONTO - Seniors want to remain active and live independently in age-friendly communities that are open to their full participation. Yet many seniors face challenges that support their mental health and well-being. With an estimated seventeen to thirty per cent of older adults suffering from mental health disorder, Ontario's government is protecting what matters most by supporting the development of a senior mental health and addictions educational program.

Today, Raymond Cho, Minister for Seniors and Accessibility, Christine Elliott, Deputy Premier and Minister of Health, and Michael Tibollo, Associate Minister of Mental Health and Addictions, announced a $250,000 investment to develop and deliver this new resource to help respond to the rising rates of mental health and addiction issues amongst seniors.

"This is another example of how our government is putting seniors first by providing essential supports and services to help improve their well-being," said Minister Cho. "This is what a government for the people does - we protect what matters most to help seniors live healthy, active, safe and socially connected lives."

This educational program is being designed with seniors in mind after consulting with CAMH and other clinical subject matter experts, as well as community mental health and addictions service providers.

Components of the program will include resource materials and a workshop series, which will educate seniors on common risk factors and prevention strategies, signs and symptoms of mental health and addiction issues, and how to access appropriate supports. It will be delivered across the province in community settings such as Seniors Active Living Centres by in-person facilitators with expertise in mental health and addictions in early 2020.

"Our government is investing in frontline services by funding new mental health programs and services for seniors across the province," said Minister Elliott. "This funding will fill critical gaps as we develop and implement a comprehensive and connected mental health strategy that better supports the complex needs of seniors."

"I look forward to working closely with Minister Elliott and Minister Cho to ensure that we provide effective mental health programs and services for our seniors," said Minister Tibollo. "Too many of Ontario's seniors have waited too long for the mental health services they require. By investing in frontline programs and services, we will continue moving forward to create a mental health system in Ontario that fully supports our seniors."

This funding is part of the additional $174 million the government is providing this year to address critical gaps in services across Ontario and support patients and families living with mental health and addictions challenges.

As Ontarians aged 65 and older are the province's fastest growing demographic, it is important to educate seniors to help prevent and address mental health issues such as depression and anxiety, as well as alcohol addiction and opioid use disorder.

QUICK FACTS

- Up to thirty per cent of older adults aged 65 and up have a mental health disorder.
- The program's workshop series will educate seniors on common risk factors and prevention strategies, signs and symptoms of mental health and addiction issues, and how to access appropriate supports.
- Canadian studies have found that rates of depression in long-term care facilities can be as high as forty per cent, and the rate of depression in older adults within hospitals range from twelve to forty-five per cent.
- According to The Canadian Centre on Substance Use and Addiction, more than thirteen per cent of Canadians age 55 and older report a pattern of problematic binge drinking.
- Investments in mental health and addictions services is part of Ontario's plan to modernize our public health care system, which relentlessly focuses on patient experience and better-connected care, to reduce wait times and end hallway health care.
- Ontario is committed to invest $3.8 billion over the next ten years to develop and implement a comprehensive and connected mental health and addictions strategy.

Ontario Taking Action to Protect and Preserve the Great Lakes

July 5, 2019

Province Collaborates with Canada and Partners on New Great Lakes Protection Agreement

TORONTO — Ontario is protecting what matters most by addressing threats to Great Lakes water quality and ecosystem health to safeguard this vital resource and habitat, as committed to in the Made-in-Ontario Environment Plan.

"Our Great Lakes are the foundation of Ontario's economic prosperity and wellbeing, but they are increasingly facing pressures, such as climate change, pollution and urban development," said Jeff Yurek, Minister of the Environment, Conservation and Parks. "This is why we committed to a number of important actions in our Made-in-Ontario Environment Plan to restore and protect our Great Lakes, including working with Canada on a new Canada-Ontario Great Lakes Agreement. We look forward to our continued work with our federal and other partners and to public input, because it is only by working together that we can take effective action to protect these vital ecosystems."

Today, Ontario and Canada released a draft of a new Canada-Ontario Agreement on Great Lakes Water Quality and Ecosystem Health to coordinate actions to protect Great Lakes water quality.

The new draft agreement is designed to advance action on key challenges facing the Great Lakes such as improving wastewater and stormwater management and reducing pollution, including a new focus on road salt and plastic pollution. It also focuses on ongoing and emerging issues such as algal blooms, invasive species, and climate resilience. The agreement addresses geographic priorities within the Great Lakes, including continuing partnerships for Lake Erie restoration, a new focus on Lake Ontario and finishing the clean-up of many historically-polluted communities.

Protecting and restoring the Great Lakes is part of our Made-in-Ontario Environment Plan to ensure we have a healthy environment and a healthy economy and that the province's pristine beauty and strong communities can be enjoyed now and in the future.

QUICK FACTS

- The current Canada-Ontario Agreement will expire in December 2019.
- Public consultations on the new draft agreement will take place between July 5 and September 4. A final agreement is expected in 2020.
- Since 1971, the Canada-Ontario Agreement has been instrumental in guiding actions by the two governments to address the most significant challenges facing the Great Lakes and improving overall conditions across all Canadian Great Lakes.

- The Canada-Ontario Lake Erie Action Plan was also developed to reduce the amount of phosphorus entering Lake Erie, and address the growth of toxic and nuisance algae.
- The Great Lakes play a vital role in the physical, social, and economic life of both Canada and Ontario, and support almost 40 per cent of Canada's economic activity.
- The Great Lakes directly provide drinking water to the majority of Ontarians.
- The Great Lakes and their watersheds are home to most Ontarians, and to more than 30,000 species of fish, birds and other living things.

Ontario Investing Almost $5 Million in Mass Timber Innovation

July 23, 2019

Ontario's first cross laminated timber plant will create jobs and support the forestry sector

ST. THOMAS - The Ontario government is opening the forest industry to jobs and promoting the use of sustainable renewable resources by investing in the province's first cross laminated timber plant.

Today John Yakabuski, Minister of Natural Resources and Forestry, announced an investment of almost $5 million in Element5's new facility, which will create over 60 jobs in St. Thomas.

The $32 million manufacturing facility will help support the forestry sector's 150,000 direct and indirect jobs in Ontario. Element5's facility will be one of North America's first fully automated cross laminated timber plants. It will provide an environmentally friendly product that will be used to construct buildings and other infrastructure projects in Canada and the U.S.

"Our government is working hard to make Ontario open for business and open for jobs by creating an environment where job creators can grow, invest and thrive," said Minister Yakabuski.

"Element5's new facility will showcase the kind of innovation we want to see more of in Ontario."

"We're grateful for the support of the Government of Ontario. This is a significant investment in the Ontario forestry industry, job creation, housing, innovation and technology, and the environment in the form of green building practices," said Frank Dottori, Industry Leadership at Element5. "Through their generous support, Ontario and specifically St. Thomas are well poised to become the centre of the mass timber industry in North America."

The government committed to increasing the use of timber in the home building industry through the Made-in-Ontario Environment Plan and the Housing Supply Action Plan. This includes increasing the use of Ontario timber in buildings, and for construction and renovation to reduce emissions and encouraging mass timber demonstration projects.

"I'm pleased to support Element5's work to create cost-effective and environmentally friendly building materials from sustainable renewable resources," says Jeff Yurek, Minister of the Environment, Conservation and Parks and MPP for Elgin-Middlesex-London. "This investment will reduce carbon dioxide emissions and create jobs right here in Ontario and in St. Thomas, contributing to our goal of balancing a healthy environment and healthy economy."

"Mass timber construction will be an important innovation that can help bring housing to market faster, while still meeting the high standards in the Ontario Building Code to protect public health and safety," said Steve Clark, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing. "This is all part of our plan to give the people of Ontario more housing and more choice."

The investment is being made through Ontario's Forestry Growth Fund, which provides funding for forestry sector projects that improve productivity and innovation, enhance competitiveness, support new market access, and strengthen supply chains and regional economies.

"Our government's open for business and open for jobs approach is restoring Ontario's competitiveness as a place for businesses to invest, innovate and create jobs," said Vic Fedeli, Minister of Economic Development, Job Creation and Trade. "Element5's new facility will create opportunities for local families, new markets for the forestry sector and reinforce Ontario's reputation for manufacturing innovation. It's a project we are proud to support."

Ontario Improving Internet and Cell Phone Service in Rural and Remote Communities

News Release

Ontario Improving Internet and Cell Phone Service in Rural and Remote Communities

July 23, 2019

Plan will connect up to 220,000 new homes and businesses

LUCAN — Families and businesses in rural and remote communities can look forward to high-speed internet and better cell phone service, Premier Ford Doug Ford announced today.

Joined by Laurie Scott, Minister of Infrastructure; Ernie Hardeman, Minister of Agriculture; and Monte McNaughton, Member of Provincial Parliament for Lambton—Kent—Middlesex and Minister of Labour, Ford announced the province's first-ever, \$315 million plan to improve and expand service to help people stay connected, and open Ontario for business and jobs.

"Our government committed to help businesses, families, and farms stay connected - no matter where they live," said Ford. "Too many families and businesses in rural and remote communities are being left behind. Open for Business has to mean Open for Everybody. Our investment will get shovels in the ground, get infrastructure built, and get people and business connected. With our plan, businesses, families and workers can count on an Ontario that will move faster than ever before."

The plan includes a $150 million commitment for a new broadband fund, which will leverage private sector funding along with support from other levels of government, to drive investment and expansion to unserved and underserved communities. Ontario's plan is expected to generate up to $1 billion in total investment over five years, resulting in new connections for up to 220,000 homes and businesses. This will lead to community, social and economic benefits well beyond the provincial investment.

"Too many people, especially those living in rural and remote communities, do not have access to reliable internet access," said Scott. "It means they can't work from home, stay connected to family and friends, or access public services such as health care and education. In our increasingly digital world, being disconnected means being disadvantaged. This must change."

"Bringing broadband internet to rural Ontario is a win for everybody," said Hardeman. "It helps kids with their homework, farms with their operations and businesses to grow and create jobs in their communities. I'm proud our government is making this important investment across the province."

"Families in rural Ontario have waited too long for help getting better broadband," said McNaughton. "Our government is taking action so families don't have to drive to fast food restaurants or local libraries to get good wifi."

QUICK FACTS

- In the 2019 Ontario Budget, the provincial government announced $315 million over the next five years for broadband and cellular expansion.
- Ontario has committed $71 million toward the $213 million Eastern Ontario Regional Network project to improve cellular and mobile broadband in up to 99 per cent of the region where people live, work and travel.
- Ontario is supporting the Southwestern Integrated Fibre Technology (SWIFT) project in Southwestern Ontario, the Niagara Region and the Town of Caledon, committing up to $63.7 million in funding toward SWIFT's total project costs of more than $190 million.
- Ontario is also addressing barriers to infrastructure expansion by maximizing the use of existing government assets and programs and modernizing government to cut red tape to encourage broadband and cellular expansion.

Supporting Seniors and their Families through Consultations Across Ontario

July 22, 2019

Feedback Collected to Support a New Government-Wide Seniors' Strategy

TORONTO - Ontario is committed to helping seniors stay healthy, active and socially connected within their own communities. Many seniors face challenges accessing programs and services that support their safety, mental and physical health, and overall well-being.

That's why, over the last six weeks, the government met with hundreds of seniors, their families, caregivers, and organizations who support and care for them, through consultations held across the province, which concluded on July 19.

"This summer I had the privilege of listening to seniors, their families, caregivers and the organizations who care for them," said Raymond Cho, Minister for Seniors and Accessibility. "Thank you to the thousands of people who took the time to share their ideas and wisdom - whether in person or online - we heard you."

A whole of government approach was taken to host the consultations. Local government officials met with hundreds of seniors, their families, caregivers and the organizations who support them in their communities across the province.

An online survey was also available, translated into 12 additional languages, to receive feedback from diverse, ethnic, Indigenous and multicultural communities. The government received over 7,800 online surveys, and more than 6,200 were from individuals 65 and older, and between the ages of 55 and 64.

Feedback from the consultations and online survey will inform a strategy to help seniors:

- Age at home and in communities;
- Remain healthy, active and socially engaged;
- Stay safe and secure, and
- Participate in the labour market and economy

"Our government has the highest regard for seniors and their families, and we are committed to protecting what matters most to them," said Cho. "We are carefully reviewing all of the feedback collected, and it will be used to develop a cross-government strategy to help improve the lives of seniors."

Supporting seniors is about investing in our own futures. The government believes that everyone should be able to age strong, in an Ontario that is open to all. A government-wide seniors' strategy that will help improve the lives of seniors is expected to be released in fall 2019.

QUICK FACTS

- Current estimates predict that the seniors' population will grow to over 3 million by 2023 – about 400,000 more seniors than today.
- Ontario is home to the largest community of immigrant seniors in Canada.
- Social isolation is a key risk factor for elder abuse and hospitalization among seniors, with thirty per cent of Canadian seniors at risk of becoming socially isolated. Being active helps to reduce risks of dementia, anxiety and depression.
- There are more than 300 Seniors Active Living Centre programs across Ontario. These community-based centres provide programs and services to promote wellness, social interaction, and education to help seniors stay active, independent and engaged.

News Release

Major Investment will Renew Ontario Schools and Strengthen Student Learning

July 22, 2019

Province Launches School Renovation Program

Brampton — Ontario's government is protecting what matters most by working with its school board partners to support the expansion of new school buildings and child care spaces, as well as major renovations and additions to existing schools.

Today, the Government of Ontario launched the 2019-20 Capital Priorities program, which provides school boards with the opportunity to access funding for large-scale projects in every region of the province.

"We are investing in our students and their futures by building new schools and renovating existing schools because I believe better schools mean better learning environments for the next generation," said Stephen Lecce, Minister of Education.

School boards can now apply for funding for capital projects including new school buildings or renovations to be completed by 2023-24. The program will also provide funding for school-based child care spaces as part of the government's commitment to build up to 10,000 new child care spaces in schools.

"This government is taking decisive action to ensure students have safe and modern learning environments that enable their success in the classroom, in life, and in the labour market," added Lecce.

Ontario's 2019 Budget, Protecting What Matters Most, highlights the government's commitment to providing students with safe and healthy learning environments and providing families with more child care options.

QUICK FACTS

- The government announced in Budget 2019 that over the next ten years, Ontario is investing nearly $13 billion in capital grants.
- This funding will build new schools and help existing schools replace aging heating or air conditioning systems, repair roofs and windows, and install important accessibility features like elevators and ramps, and support the expansion of child care spaces.

- The Ministry of Education invites school boards to submit their top 10 school-based capital priorities for funding consideration. These are the school boards' highest priority capital projects required within the next three years.
- The Ministry of Education reviews all Capital Priorities submissions for eligibility and announces successful projects annually.

Dear Head of Council:

RE: Provincial Policy Statement Review – Draft Policies

I am writing today to announce that my ministry is launching a consultation on proposed policy changes to the Provincial Policy Statement (PPS). The PPS is an important part of Ontario's land use planning system, setting out the provincial land use policy direction.

Municipalities play a key role in implementing these policies through local official plans, zoning by-laws and other planning decisions. The Planning Act requires that decisions on land use planning matters be "consistent with" the Provincial Policy Statement policies.

The government is consulting on draft policy changes to:

- Encourage the development of an increased mix and supply of housing
- Protect the environment and public safety
- Reduce barriers and costs for development and provide greater predictability
- Support rural, northern and Indigenous communities
- Support the economy and job creation

The proposed PPS policy changes support the implementation of More Homes, More Choice: Ontario's Housing Supply Action Plan. The Action Plan includes a series of distinct but coordinated initiatives to address housing supply, including a review of the Provincial Policy Statement. The proposed PPS changes work together with other recent changes to the land use planning system – including to the Planning Act through Bill 108, More Homes, More Choice Act, 2019 (once proclaimed) and A Place to Grow: Growth Plan for the Greater Golden Horseshoe.

For more information about the consultation, please visit <http://www.mah.gov.on.ca/Page215.aspx> where you will find:

- A link to the posting on the Environment Registry of Ontario (ERO #019-0279), including the proposed Provincial Policy Statement and questions to consider
- Information on how to provide comments

The consultation is open for 90 days and closes on October 21, 2019.

I look forward to hearing your ideas on the proposed changes to the Provincial Policy Statement.

If you have any questions about the consultation, please contact the ministry at planningconsultation@ontario.ca or by calling 1-877-711-8208.

Sincerely,

To the Mayor and Council of Prince Township

and the Prince Township Heritage Committee/Museum Board

It is with great sadness that I submit to you my resignation from the Heritage Committee and Museum Board.

I have neither the expertise nor the stamina nor the support to meet my obligations to the museum at this time.

We are in "survival mode" at present. We have a summer student who is doing the best she can to keep the facility open, update the accession records and clean up the facility.

I am unable to supervise her very well at this time. When I applied for the funds for a student I had hoped I would be in better health than I am. This is not the case.

I also hoped that the museum would be in better shape than it is and this is not the case either. Instead of doing updates to the displays and regular maintenance, we are faced with major damage to the roof of the Conway House due to snow load this winter.

I believe that to build a good future both people and communities need to respect, acknowledge and learn from their past achievements. This means their history and its artifacts need to be preserved so that those interested in learning from past experience can access them.

Most of the museum facility is in pretty good shape and the articles therein are of relevance and interest to those wanting to see and learn about local history.

I have ideas for future displays and events, but am not able to do what needs to be done at this time.

Regretfully yours

Dear Premier Ford,

Re: MUNICIPAL AMALGAMATION

Please be advised that at its regular meeting held, Monday July 15, 2019 the Council of the Township of McKellar passed the following resolution:

19-355

WHEREAS there are 444 municipalities in Ontario that are very efficient and well-governed, and who respond quickly to ratepayer's needs;

AND WHEREAS in the 1990's the Conservative Government forced many municipalities to amalgamate on the guise they would become more efficient, effective, save money, lower taxes and ultimately reduce the provincial deficit;

AND WHEREAS there has never been a valid evidence-based study that supported these outcomes;

AND WHEREAS forced amalgamation actually accomplished just the opposite: ill feelings, increased animosity and mistrust, job losses, rise in local taxes and an increase in the provincial deficit;

AND WHEREAS there are many positive examples of small rural and northern municipalities working together in a collaborate and cooperative manner via shared agreements that responds to local needs without amalgamation and provincial interference;

AND WHEREAS the Provincial Government has a large deficit due to their own decision-making;

AND WHEREAS recently the same Conservative Government recently reduced one large regional municipal government by 50%, without "consultation";

AND WHEREAS this same Conservative Government is presently reviewing other provincial regional governments through a purported "consultative" approach with a view to reduce or eliminate them;

AND WHEREAS the Provincial Government should investigate all other internal ways of reducing their deficit and becoming more fiscally responsible over time rather than downloading to the one level of government that is the most efficient, has the lowest cost and is closest to the electorate which will not put a dent in the provincial deficit;

AND WHEREAS the Province could look at what other provinces have done to reduce the debt with one singular education system, organizing unorganized municipalities, controlling OPP costs, substantially increase fines, and find a way to collect millions and millions of dollars in unpaid fines and instead, invest in the north to create jobs and stimulate and enhance economic development;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that before the Provincial Government forces amalgamation in any of the 444 municipalities in Ontario, our AMO organization go beyond requesting "consultation" and "demand" that the Provincial Government do the following:

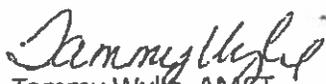

- 1) Hold a local referendum letting the citizens decide to amalgamate or not
- 2) Conduct an evidence-based study to show that amalgamation actually saves costs, jobs, lowers taxes and reduce the provincial deficit
- 3) Allow those municipalities to work out their own local collaborative agreement that best suit their local needs and to be permitted to do so on their own time line and volition
- 4) To ensure that there is absolutely no conflict of interest in this consultative process
- 5) To emphasize the political reality of forcing amalgamation on the many rural and northern municipalities across Ontario

AND FURTHER that a copy of this resolution be sent to Doug Ford, Premier of Ontario; Christine Elliott, Deputy Premier; Steve Clark, Minister of Municipal Affairs; Andrea Horwath, Leader of the New Democratic Party; and all MPPs in the Province of Ontario;

AND FURTHER that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Association of Municipalities of Ontario (AMO), the Northwestern Ontario Municipal Association (NOMA), Rural Ontario Municipalities Association (ROMA), Federation of Northern Ontario Municipalities (FONOM), the District of Parry Sound Municipal Association (DPSMA) and all Ontario municipalities for their consideration.

Mayor Lamming & Council:

Congratulation on becoming the host of the newest car show in the area! It's always a great day for the community – for both car enthusiasts and the surrounding businesses – and we wish you continued success.

The Bruce Mines Cruisin' Car Show has been an annual event since 2002 and has always been held on the second Saturday in June. This date was selected as a courtesy by our group so we would not conflict with any other car shows in the region.

At our show on June 8th this year, it was noted by many of the participants and visitors that it was unfortunate that there were two shows on the same day and that they had to make a choice of which one to attend. All the participants try to enter as many shows as possible and the owners we spoke to all indicated that they wished Prince Township had either selected the Sunday or another weekend all together.

It is for this reason that the Bruce Mines Cruisin' Car Show Committee respectfully requests that your community select another date for your event. We both want our shows to be as successful as possible and the best way to achieve this is by supporting each other's event, not competing with it.

We thank you in advance for your consideration of our request and look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Ed Golec,
Chairperson, Cruisin' Car Show Committee
